"Lord Jesus Christ, bless the children who came forward to receive Holy Communion for the first time. May this day be the step toward a life-long love of the Eucharist. Give them a hunger for this sacred food so that they turn to you for comfort, guidance, and wisdom as they grow into full discipleship. Thank you for their innocence and goodness. May their hands, extended in anticipation of your body and blood, inspire all of us to cherish this sacred Sacrament. Amen."

THE HOLY TRINITY: is a mystery which stands at the very heart of the faith. The doctrine of the Trinity is a technical way of stating what St. John said in his first letter, that God is love. If God is love, then there must be within God a play of lover, beloved, and love. This is the relationality that obtains among the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. The Trinity names the very heart of the Christian faith. Our God is a community or family of love, and we are invited, through Christ, to share in that love. ~ Bishop Robert Barron

IN THE NAME OF THE FATHER AND OF THE SON AND OF THE HOLY SPIRIT:
The Trinity and the Cross: it's not an accident of piety that these two themes converge in the words and gesture of the Church's most fundamental and most popular prayer. The cross is an image in time of the Trinity's life in eternity. On the cross, Jesus Christ gave himself entirely. He held nothing back. Such is the self-giving of the Son for the Father, the Father for the Son. Each makes a complete and loving gift of his life to the other, and that gift, that life, that love, is the Holy Spirit. The sign of that love in the world is the Sign of the Cross. ~ Scott Hahn

THE DEEPEST SECRET INSIDE WISDOM: Ron Rolheiser, OMI
In Mark’s Gospel, Jesus seems to be hinting at sort of a secret. Jesus tells us there is a secret that is open to us which, if known, puts us into a special circle of enlightenment and community. In Mark 4:1, he tells his disciples: To you is given the secret of the Kingdom of God, but to those outside everything is in parables. Jesus is clearly distinguishing between two circles, one which grasps the secret and is “inside”, and the other which does not grasp the secret and is “outside”. Jesus seems to be saying that in following him, we can be either “in” or “out”, depending upon whether we (in today’s terminology) “get it”, and those who “don’t get it” remain outside. But what are we inside or outside of? More importantly, what is the secret? For Jesus, the secret is the cross. That’s the deep wisdom we need to grasp. If we understand the cross, all the rest of what Jesus teaches will make sense. Interestingly we see that in the Gospels, grasping the secret of the cross is not something we do once and for all. Sometimes we grasp it, and we are inside the circle of understanding; and sometimes we don’t grasp it, and we are outside the circle of understanding. For example, after Peter denies Jesus during the passion, the Gospels tell us that “Peter went outside”. They are referring to much more than simply stepping outside through some courtyard door. In denying that he knew Jesus and not stepping forward to assume the weight of what would happen if he remained faithful, Peter was stepping outside the circle of both true discipleship and of a true understanding of life. His denial of Jesus took him “outside”. In our following of Jesus, we too sometimes step “outside” when we give in to temptation or adversity. But then, if we repent of our betrayal, like Peter, we can step back “inside”. There are various ways that we can enter into an understanding of Jesus’ message and try to appropriate it for our lives, but few, perhaps none, take us so immediately to the center as does the invitation from Jesus in the Gospel of Mark to grasp and accept the wisdom of the Cross.
